

When youth have a passion for animals, the 4-H Horse Project provides a great opportunity to explore their interest. From judging contests and visual presentations to animal production and competitive showing, 4-H'ers can participate in aspects of the project with or without animal ownership.

The project teaches animal husbandry including selecting, feeding, managing, and marketing of horses. Developing teamwork, responsibility, and decision-making alongside both animals and people is unique to the livestock program experience. Hobbies or careers in animal agriculture enable utilization of these lifelong skills and project mastery.

Starting Out Beginner

Starting a livestock project is exciting and challenging! There is so much to learn! Join a 4-H livestock club to meet knowledgeable, experienced mentors and friends.

Volunteer at local shows. Develop visual presentations and demonstrations to learn about topics like animal health and handling, then share them with your club and in competitions.

Join your local horse judging team to learn more about conformation and anatomy, competitive disciplines, breed characteristics, selection, and more. Start your record book.

Learning More Intermediate

Put your knowledge into practice by competing in contests and purchasing an animal.

Join your local Horse Bowl team.

Buy a horse and present it at your county and state shows.

Explore increasingly complex topics for public speaking such as genetics, reproduction, and nutrition.

Continue to document project activities and goals in your record book.

Exploring Depth Advanced

Advance your showmanship to the next level competing in regional and national shows.

Join a Hippology Team to utilize your horse judging, demonstration, public speaking, and general knowledge in competition.

Demonstrate your appreciation for horses and challenge yourself to learn a new skill through the Horse Art and Photography Contests.

Share your project experience with beginners. Submit your project record book to the state competition.

4-H Thrive

Positive Youth Development

Developing Competence

Adults create environments where youth can develop competence in their chosen project area.

Building Confidence

Youth build confidence as they learn to think for themselves, build mastery, and are recognized for their efforts.

Nurturing Caring

Adults nurture a caring environment where mutual trust between youth and adults is established. Caring relationships with adults are key to resilient youth.

Finding Connection

Youth build solid connections which are critical to their well-being.

Forming Character

Create a community where youth play an active role in developing their character.

Determining Contribution

Youth actively contribute to their clubs and communities.
